

The 'Hospital at the End of Your Street' uses a combination of nurses, specialists equipment and decision support software to provide first class care to people who would previously have needed to be cared for at the hospital.

